COMMENT and RUMOR

Next week is Thanksgiving. Thursday falls on our regular press day at the News office, so we request correspondents and advertisers to get us their copy one day earlier. We shall print Wednesday afternoon in order to be able to observe Thanksgiving at home.

The child delinquency problem is again giving city officials, school authorities and home owners some concern. Chas. D. Dulea, San Francisco chief of police says: "The only answer in cases of young offenders is to arrest the parents of delinquents and charge them with contributing to the delinquency of a minor."

We have the means, that is schools, churches and youth organizations, to teach fidelity and Christian character to our children. If we don't encourage the children along the right lines and set a good example in our homes we cannot expect them to keep out of mischief.

Every branch of our armed forces needs women for non-combat duty. The Navy wants 600,000 Waves, the Coast Guard wants Spars, the Army wants Wacs and they all want nurses. Looks like fully a million women are urgently needed as enlisted personnel.

Not more than 200,000 women have been enlisted, it is reported, so we foresee a draft for the women power of the country as well as the men.

The shadow of war is over all the earth this Thanksgiving so it would seem a Psalm of Penance is as much in order as a Psalm of Thanksgiving. But we should be thankful nevertheless for the stable and growing consciousness in most of our people that religion is the foundation of our democracy. For the faith that we are fighting for real issues.

Give thanks for the unselfish boys as they come home, some of them after heroic sacrifice, yet who have no complaint but who have a true and confident assurance of victory.

Early last week Tom Plant and Dr. Wolcott returned from a hunting trip to northern Utah and southern Idaho which has been reported previously, however, there's a story which is getting around about their luck. Seems one of the men says when shooting a pheasant his gun kicked and knocked him into a large irrigation canal. He came out with his pockets full of fish and when he reached the bank the load was so heavy it busted off a suspender button. The button flew in the air and killed a duck. And that's not all, according to Tom. He has the nerve to say that duck fell on a rabbit and killed it. Some hunters—or—is it story tellers.

SUGGESTS POSTAL PATRONS

LAY IN SUPPLY 6c AIR MAIL

Dear Heber:

I must confess this is one time you have rendered me retortless. For the last few days I've been raking my small brain for a suitable comeback at you for that squib in your last week's issue of the News. Guess I will just have to console myself with the thought that perhaps sometime in the not distant future I will find the chance to get "hump" with you. Meanwhile watch your step.

I see by the papers that air mail postage will advance from 6c to 10 cents. Wouldn't it be wise to suggest to our genial postmaster, Harold Rankin, to lay in an extra supply of the 6c stamps so as to be prepared for the "run" by those of us who hitherto, overwhelmed shoe stores, grocers and other establishments when it became known that there would be an increase in price or a rationing of certain commodities?

Yours truly, Mr. M.
James Miltenberger.

IN THE SERVICE--

News from our local boys in service as well as letters or excerpts of letters will be gladly published in this newspaper. Please bring them in for many service men receive the Ocean Beach News by mail weekly and are glad to hear of former friends.

Lieut. W. R. deLyre, former dentist here now in Army service, wired Mrs. deLyre the first of the week that he had arrived at his destination after 29 days enroute. The said destination was not mentioned and no indication given of where it might be.

Corp. Raymond F. Kreizinger, 19, has returned to Camp Haan after having spent a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl L. Kreizinger, of 1610 Santa Barbara st. A graduate of Point Loma high school, he entered the Army in March.

Master Gunner Sergeant J. W. Watkins, whose wife Rose lives at 5118 Muir ave., has received special recognition at Camp Elliott. He was co-instructor of an 81 millimeter mortar platoon that established a new record in mortar school gunnery tests at this Marine Corps training center last week. The 38-man platoon qualified 100 per cent of its members as gunners, with 20 men scoring high expert and eight running up perfect scores. Master Gunner Sergeant Watkins is a veteran of the Guadalcanal campaign, where he was attached to a mortar unit.

Master Technical Sergeant Norman Terpsten, formerly of 2270 Seaside st., now has a salvage section on Guadalcanal, according to word from the Marine corps. His shop has proved the answer to many repairmen's prayer for materials for vehicles, typewriters and mechanical tools.

Pvt. Clyde Coull writes home folks he is still anxious for mail, way down south, that fishing is good in the river, hunting is good for quail and wild chicken. There is also wild cattle and pink parrots in the woods. Weird noises come from the jungles which the boys would like to solve. Coull's address has changed to 663rd AAA M.G. Bty., APO 713, Unit 1, care Postmaster, San Francisco, California.

Robert McCaffrey, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCaffrey, Niagara ave., has completed 17 weeks of basic training at Camp Callan and on Nov. 5th left for Ft. Bliss, El Paso, Texas.

Arnold D. Dewees, U.S.N., 17, has been promoted seaman first class. A letter received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dewees, 4631 Pescadero, tells of the advancement on Nov. 1. Arnold, who has been in the service six months is now overseas. He is a Pt. Loma high school graduate. Born in Canada and at the age of four he came to Ocean Beach with his parents where they have since made their home.

The women of Ocean Beach have been wonderful in their response to make a happy Christmas for our boys both here and over seas. There is one thing more you can do. If each home would give just one tree ornament it would help so much in having trees for men here and those who will be at sea Christmas. Also please collect those 25c detective story books. The pocket edition. Call Mrs. Miller, B-3066 or Red Cross unit B-5639.

U. S. O. would like baseballs, bats and mitts, tennis balls and rackets, chest protectors, footballs, basketballs, nets, volleyballs, etc. Anything for recreation. Please call B-3066.

Please get your Christmas boxes in before Dec. 1st, so they can go to the collection centers by Dec. 1st.

Through the courtesy of Charles Pagesey, 4769 Niagara ave., the Red Cross workroom on Del Monte ave., has a new coat of paint. We certainly appreciate it and it looks beautiful. We are also greatly in debt to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shaw, of the Ocean Beach Furniture Co., for the beautiful linoleum they donated us for the tops of our work tables. Our unit is doing a wonderful work and we appreciate the help given us.

Last week we had 26 fires in and around San Diego. These fires destroy our war material, disrupt power transmission, burn homes and watersheds and do so much destruction. These fires are set by good citizens sometimes who are careless. They throw cigarette butts out of car windows, forget to put out camp fires or leave rubbish piles still smoldering to fan into flames.

How the Japs love such a setup! How they gloat over our carelessness. Every brush or forest fire is an enemy fire whether started by cigarettes or camp fires.

Mrs. Mae Heidbreich will be home soon. Two in her sector AA, Mrs. Clara Baker and Mrs. Lu Smith, have held meetings. Mrs. Ramona Brewer held her block meeting on Monday, Nov. 15th.

Mrs. Noonan of sector G held her block meeting Nov. 15th. So many women are working it is hard to get them together for meetings. Sector and block leaders are doing their best.

Mrs. Brooks, at her block meeting, was given a surprise in the form of $30.50. Her block women told her to buy herself a present. That block packed 17 Christmas boxes.

Let us not relax because the dimout has been lifted. Remember—over-confidence is a booby trap on the home front.

Burns Takes Life

Of Corrine Cihak

While drying her hair too close to a gas heater last Saturday, Corrine Cihak, 12, received burns which proved fatal.

The accident happened in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Cihak at 1980 Chatsworth blvd. Her hair burst into flames and her clothing caught on fire.

She was rushed to the County hospital and died Sunday morning. Corrine came here two years ago with her parents, from Geddes, S. D. Her father is an aircraft employee.

Recitation of the rosary was held Thursday at 7:30 p.m., at the Lewis mortuary. Requiem mass will be held today (Friday) at 9 a.m., at Sacred Heart church, 2001 Sunset Cliffs blvd.

Corrine leaves her parents and brother, Richard Cihak, to grieve her passing. She was a very brilliant student, at Dana Junior high of the seventh grade, beloved by all her schoolmates and teachers.

Auto and Bike Tires

Scarce This Winter

Sharply emphasizing previous statements on tire shortages, the San Diego District Office of Price Administration announced Monday that Nov. quotas would be cut sharply from the Oct. figures in everything except third grade tires.

At the same time the auto and bicycle quotas were slashed. It was the first time the bike quota had been cut in months. Both San Diego and Imperial counties will get the slashes, said George C. Ray, San Diego district OPA chief rationer.

In Grade 1 or new tires San Diego's Nov. quota is 1795, or 27 per cent below the 2461 tires set aside for this county in Oct. Imperial's quota was trimmed from the Oct. total of 520 to 414.

In Grade 3 tires, San Diego's quota is 3536, compared with 2828 for Oct.; the valley gets 707 against 622 for Oct. San Diego gets 2279 tubes against 2724 in Oct. and Imperial was cut to 650 from the Oct. figure of 810.

In truck and bus tires San Diego was cut 40 per cent to 730 from the 1219 Oct. mark, and Imperial was cut from 670 to 425. San Diego will get only 767 truck and bus tubes, compared with 1084 in Oct. and Imperial was cut from 623 to 425.

San Diego's new auto quota was cut from 175 to 120 and Imperial's from 38 to 22.

A big cut was made in bicycles, San Diego being reduced from 400 to 134 and Imperial from 80 to 26.

Thanksgiving Eve Service

At Local Methodist Church

The Point Loma Methodist church will hold a special Thanksgiving eve service Wednesday, Nov. 24 at 7:30. Rev. James F. Roberts, pastor, will theme "In Everything Give Thanks." Appropriate music has been arranged. Special prayers will be said for men and women in the service of their country. Those families and others who have friends and relatives in the service are urged to attend.

Want Graduate Nurses

To Teach Home Nurses

Due to the importance of training at least one man or woman in every family in Red Cross home nursing and also due to the large number of requests for enrollment, the Home Nursing committee of the San Diego chapter, American Red Cross is organizing permanent home nursing in many parts of the city and county.

There will be a choice of morning, afternoon or evening classes of two hours duration, twice a week. An average of 24 to 30 hours training completes the course.

There should be several Florence Nightingales in every area of the city and county who, perhaps retired because of family requirements, could answer the call, without neglecting their family responsibilities.

Any graduate nurse is eligible to act as instructor for these health educational courses in Red Cross home nursing. Phone your nearest Red Cross headquarters or get in touch with the San Diego chapter for an application or further information as soon as possible, because the nation's power depends upon healthy homes.

"Fighting men need nurses, civilians need home care!"

Half Million Dollar

Theatre Bldg. Sold

Purchase of the Commonwealth building at the corner of Fifth ave. and B st. by the Balboa Building Co., of Los Angeles, for $500,000, was announced Wednesday by Hal G. Hotchkiss, president of the Fifth and B Corp.

The Balboa Building Co. is a subsidiary of the Fox West Coast Theatres Corp. The purchasers announced that the name of the building will be changed to the Orpheum building.

Sale of this property is the fourth large real estate transaction consummated this year. Among the buildings that have been sold were Hotel San Diego, The Union building, and the Spreckles theatre building. The Commonwealth building was constructed in 1926 by the Pantages, Shreve and Robinson interests. It is a six-story concrete and steel building, containing in addition to the theatre and stores, 160 offices.

Christmas Seals

Of Tuberculosis On

Sale Starting Monday

Thanksgiving week will mark the opening of the 37th annual Christmas Seal sale, a seasonal appeal that finds a universally popular response because the proceeds are used to fight tuberculosis.

Locally, the campaign is directed by the San Diego Tuberculosis association, which beginning Monday will mail more than 90,000 letters containing Christmas Seals to homes through the county. The seals cost a penny apiece, and recipients are asked to buy them and forward their contributions promptly to the association in an envelope enclosed in each letter for that purpose. It is urged that Christmas Seals be used on letters, cards and packages from now until after the holidays.

California Properties

Worth 8 Billion Dollars

Taxable value of property in San Diego county this year is up 30.8 per cent compared with valuations for 1939, study of the trend of assessed valuations in California counties, by California Taxpayers' association, shows.

Total assessed value of property in the county this year is $279,812,530, compared with $213,942,681 value for 1939. Property in the county was valued at $265,760,793 last year. Values of real estate, improvements, and personal property are included in these figures, the association said.

Throughout the state, property valuations this year are just under the $8 billion level, the $7,886,224,624 total valuation of property being 11.1 per cent higher than the $7,095,382,102 assessed value for 1939. Last year's valuations in California totalled $7,679,695,370.

Army Nurse Tells of Great

Need for More Nurses

Frank B. McElwee was program chairman at Ocean Beach Kiwanis meeting Tuesday evening with guest speaker Mary K. Cuppy, 1st lieutenant army nurse corps, who is in charge of recruitment for army nurses for Southern California. Lt. Cuppy is a native of Oklahoma, graduated from Oklahoma University hospital school in 1935. She became interested in military nursing during her training and applied for army nurse corps. She was accepted in June, 1936, and assigned a 2nd lieutenant and active since that time as an army nurse.

Miss Cuppy is an excellent speaker and gave an interesting story of moving the first hospital train from San Francisco late in 1941. Also the reception of wounded men from combat areas. She made an urgent appeal for nurse aid, saying that every retired nurse and every eligible nurse should enter service now to give whatever time they can spare to help care for the wounded and sick. Nurses aids and home nursing classes should also be joined that hospitals and homes have necessary helpers when so urgently needed. There are, Miss Cuppy said, only 34 graduate nurses in one of our hospitals where there are 575 to 600 patients, and this number is far from sufficient.

The speaker said great courage is displayed by our soldiers who face imminent death and they must have adequate nurse care to save those who are critically wounded and to hurry the recovery of minor casualties that they may return to combat duty. Florence C. Jacobsen, 1st lieutenant A.N.C., chief nurse at Fort Rosecrans station hospital, accompanied Lieut. Cuppy and also made her plea for hospital help, by retired nurses or nurse aids at the local army base.

Al Hunt, co-owner of Cache of Sweets, was introduced to the club by Marc Strauss and inducted into the organization by Milton Lancaster.

W. B. Bassler was a guest of Rollin Reed and Robert Sharon was a guest of the club.

Del Monte Avenue

Lieutenant Given Award

According to late word from the southwest Pacific Lt. Col. Raymond L. Murray, 30, of 4868 Del Monte ave., has been awarded the Silver Star Medal for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against Japanese forces on Guadalcanal. The citation reads:

"In the midst of intensive small arms fire, and with utter disregard for his own safety, he brought his men into position. As the battalion deployed, patrols from the leading elements ran into an enemy strong point organized in depth and extending westwards to the vicinity of the Mamara river.

"Through the remainder of the day and night he was constantly in the most advanced lines. At least 30 of the enemy were killed and the remainder forced to retreat.

"His courage and leadership were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

Murray was commissioned in 1935, after graduating from Texas A.M. college. He was stationed in China and Iceland before the United States entered the war.

First Class Postage

Required on Overseas

Christmas Cards

Christmas greeting cards to soldiers overseas must be sent in sealed envelopes bearing first class postage. Postmaster Harold Rankin has been advised by the war department.

The war department says that greetings mailed now will have a good chance of being delivered even at the most remote army postoffices before Christmas, but delay may mean the soldiers won't get the cards in time.

Domestic greeting cards still may be sent in unsealed envelopes with a cent and a half postage, provided they contain no message other than the printed greetings, but such cards are not forwarded and are not returned to senders if addressees cannot be located.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Both Parties Study Election Trends; Higher Wage Scale Ends Coal Strike; Permit Plan May Regulate Marketing As Shipments Flood Packing Plants

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

HOGS:

Heavy Receipts

With hog shipments flooding packing centers and many slaughterers reported shifting receipts to less congested yards, there were rumors that the government may impose a permit system to regulate marketing.

During a recent three-day period, packers received 574,000 hogs, almost 40,000 over the record October peak of the previous week. With packers in possession of from three to ten days' supplies, 250 to 270 pounds brought $14.40 in the Chicago yards, with weights below 180 pounds dropping from 15 cents to $1 under the $13.75 "floor."

Although the government had worked out a permit system for marketing last year, it did not apply it when heavy rains leveled off. According to experts, preference would be given to bigger hogs if the permit system were to be applied now.

Meat Production

Meat production for 1944 will total 24 billion pounds, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported, but increased government needs will cut civilian allocations.

More than 96 million hogs will be slaughtered in 1944, the BAE said, or three million more than this year. Because of smaller spring pig crops, however, next fall's marketings should drop below current levels.

Despite record slaughtering in 1943, cattle on farms should number about 80 million head January 1. Because of the feed situation, total cattle fed should slide below 1943 levels in the corn belt and other areas, BAE said.

Because of a shortage of ewes and labor, the 1944 lamb crop should be one to two million head smaller than this year, with slaughter also dropping. Butchering of sheep at 1943 levels would seriously deplete supplies by 1945.

ELECTIONS:

GOP Trend

With the election of Republican Simeon S. Willis as governor of Kentucky, the GOP swept through all recent elections to strengthen indications of a swing in the political pendulum.

In New York, Republican Joe R. Hanley amassed a majority of 343,000 votes to win the lieutenant-governorship from Democrat Lieut. Gen. William N. Haskell. Should Governor Tom Dewey decide to make the presidential race in 1944, Party-man Hanley will fill his shoes.

Governor of New Jersey during World War I, Republican Walter Edge ran up a majority of 128,000 votes to win the office again during World War II, besting labor-backed Democrat Vincent Murphy.

Republicans maintained their 62-year control of Philadelphia with the election of Republican Bernard Samuel for mayor over White House favorite and Democrat William Bullitt by 64,000 votes.

Said GOP National Chairman Harrison Spangler: "The light of the New Deal has flickered out." Retorted Democratic National Chairman Frank C. Walker: "I read no national trend whatsoever in . . . the . . . results."

COAL STRIKE:

Agreement Reached

John L. Lewis' 460,000 soft and hard coal miners were ordered back to their jobs following agreement on new wage conditions between the United Mine Workers' steel chief and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

L. Ickes, acting on behalf of the government which again took over the pits when a serious strike threatened.

Bypassing the War Labor board which had consented only to a wage increase of $1.12 1/2 daily, Lewis and Ickes worked out a formula boosting the bituminous miners' daily take to $1.50. Under the terms, the work day would be extended to 8 1/2 hours, with miners compensated for the average of 45 minutes of underground travel time, but with their lunch time chopped from 30 to 15 minutes.

Anthracite miners will receive 70 cents more daily, 37.8 cents more by sacrificing 15 minutes of their 30 minutes lunch time, and 32.2 cents more as a result of a previous WLB award.

ITALY:

Line Sags

With Generals Clark and Montgomery bringing their full pressure to bear on the western and central sectors of the Germans' Massico ridge mountain line, the Nazis began to slowly give ground.

As they drew back along the west coast, they planted extensive mines and dynamited and blocked off roads, impeding the advance of pursuing Allies.

Smashing through during the night, British troops captured Isernia in the center. By so doing, Montgomery's Tommies cut the Nazis' forward east-west supply road, forcing them to use other routes behind the mountains.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

Smash Jap Squadron

The battle to clear the enemy from the northern Solomons was on. U. S. troops were pouring ashore at Rekata bay on Bougainville island. In darkness and rain, reconnaissance reported the approach of a strong Jap naval squadron to resist the American landings. U. S. squadrons headed north for the fight.

Ninety minutes of tense maneuvering was followed by two hours of fighting. Toll: One Jap cruiser and four destroyers sunk. U. S. loss: Damage and casualties.

Their footing secure, U. S. troops pressed inland on Bougainville. At the Japs' great base of Rabaul to the west, U. S. fliers dropped hundreds of bombs, with Allied headquarters claiming 100,000 tons of enemy shipping sunk or damaged.

Pistol Packin' Vigiladies

A typical illustration of the sudden sweep of righteous beligerency which suddenly transformed America into a hard hitting war machine is a group of women who guard the Allis-Chalmers supercharger plant in Milwaukee, Wis. Before Pearl Harbor, these women probably would have been shocked at the sight of a gun. Now they are crack shots with pistols, shotguns, and tommy guns, as they and other patriotic women guard our vital war plants.

HALT!—That's what Agnes Zemen means when she blows her whistle.

GATE GUARD—Lucille Beil examines the gate pass presented by the driver of a loaded truck.

CHECK—All vigiladies have orders to be suspicious. Jewell Halliday, left, not only checks this visitor's credentials but also the inside of a leather bag he is carrying. The military women stop each visitor to make sure that he or she is okay before being admitted. They also check each incoming automobile and the contents of all brief cases.

Breed Through Year

Common bean weevils breed throughout the year in dry seeds stored in a warm place, and they may be found in all stages of growth throughout the winter months. Under no condition should weevil-infested beans be planted. As soon as the crop is harvested, the beans should be thoroughly dried and fumigated with carbon bisulfide before they are stored. To prevent reinfestation, tight sacks should be used for storing them.

Fall Planting of Shrubs

The fall planting season for hardy trees, shrubs and vines commences with the time the leaves begin to turn color and drop from the plant and continues until the ground is frozen. The early part of this period is probably the better time. Then the roots of the plants have an opportunity to become established before the ground freezes. Root growth will continue in the fall as long as the soil temperature is from 8 to 10 degrees above freezing.

Soybean Curd

The soybean curd used in China and other eastern countries is apparently the only instance of an oil-seed product, including the protein fraction, being used as such for food.

Colors Soil

Humus is black and colors the soil. Black soil is usually in good mechanical condition, though not necessarily fertile, while some of the most fertile soils are not black and yet are both rich and friable.

INDEPENDENT U. S. VOTER IS DECIDING INFLUENCE

THE INDEPENDENT American voter exercises the deciding influence in political elections in the greater number of states and the nation generally. He owes allegiance to no party; looks beyond the party label; is not interested in party tradition or the glories of the past. He is interested only in the immediate present and in the future.

Of the present he wants honest information—definitely expressed—as to what is being done, or has been done. He wants that in the form of facts, not as condemnation of one party by another. Given the facts, he feels himself fully capable of determining whether or not those responsible for a condition should or should not be supported. If there is to be condemnation he prefers to do his own "viewing with alarm."

For the future he wants to know definitely what policies each party proposes. He wants those policies expressed in words that can have but one meaning. He is quick to detect "weasel" words in any platform, and resents any effort on the part of any party to be "all things to all men." He demands honesty of purpose, honestly expressed.

With these two things, an honest and definite accounting of the immediate past and present and an honest statement of the purposes of the future, he will decide for himself what party and what leaders represent the best interests of his state and the nation.

When we have that kind of political action by all political parties we will obtain an expression of the wishes of a majority of American voters and the Republic will be safe. The independent voter demands honesty in the party he will support. He will not knowingly countenance double dealing.

'PERMANENT' PEACE PLANS NEED SERIOUS STUDY

VICE PRESIDENT WALLACE has proposed President Roosevelt as "permanent" chairman of the post-war peace conference. That "permanent" would imply that the job of peacemaking is to be a long one, and it should be. It would imply that the ideas for peacemaking as proposed by former President Hoover will, in general, be applied. All of the many problems for which solutions must be found cannot be considered at once. They must be decided one at a time. They cannot be dropped into a hopper of hate and ground out as a peace product by a war-mad world. In his book, "The Problems of Lasting Peace," and in his addresses, Mr. Hoover has pled for that cooling off period after immediate needs have been cared for. If we are to have, as we are demanding, a permanent peace, arriving at its final terms is a task that will last for some years, and one that will call for a high degree of statesmanship. To name President Roosevelt as chairman of that conference would accord him a high honor.

ATLANTIC CHARTER

WE ARE INCLINED to think of the Atlantic Charter as defining the policies and purposes of 32 Allied nations. In reality, it is not that. It has been signed by some representative of each of 32 nations. It has not been officially approved by the government of any one of these nations, including the United States and England. President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill proposed it as what, in their opinion, should be the policies and purposes of the Allied nations, but it cannot become effective and operative without the approval of congress and parliament. It represents what President Wilson's 14 points represented, the policies and purposes of individuals. What congress and parliament may say about the Atlantic Charter is something else again.

WHEN YOUR PAPER ERRS REMEMBER THIS . . .

JUSTUS CRAEMER is state railroad commissioner of California. He is also a newspaper publisher. As a railroad commissioner he deals largely in figures. As a newspaper publisher he must answer for errors in his newspaper. Combining the two vocations he did a bit of figuring, the astronomical kind he uses as a railroad commissioner, and finds there are more than three million chances for an error in producing one issue of an average eight page newspaper. He quotes those figures as an alibi for the occasional error in his newspaper. He can, and does, prove the statement to the satisfaction of any critical reader.

I SHOULD LIKE to pronounce the punishment for Hitler and Mussolini. It is that they be marooned together on a small, uninhabited, coral island, provided with sufficient food and water to keep them alive if shared equally, and see which would live longer. We might make a sporting event of it and gamble on which one would die first, either from being talked to death or from failure to receive his share of the food and water. A percentage on the bets could help provide food for their victims in Europe.

By Delos Wheeler Lovelace

Consolidated Features.—WNU Release.

NEW YORK.—If John R. Deane could have kept on winning promotions as fast as he did in the first months of his career in the United States army he would long ago have had no more ranks to conquer. He enlisted in the closing hours of World War I, on October 5, two days after the Germans asked President Wilson for an armistice. He was made a second lieutenant on October 26, on the very day Ludendorff resigned his German command. Not that Lieutenant Deane had the field marshal worried. The two events just happened to dovetail. By the next February it was First Lieutenant Deane.

He lagged for a while after that. He waited 16 years for his majority. But he is a major general now, and his present job in Moscow, at the head of the American military mission which is supposed to blow all bottlenecks out of our lend-lease program there, is likely to move him still farther upward, and at a fast pace, too.

Deane is a Californian. Better, he belongs to the toploftical inner circle of Californians who were born in San Francisco, that romantic center of fogs, tip-tilted streets and overcast evenings. He belongs to the army's inner circle, too, is a graduate of the Army War college, where only the smart officers go, and of the Command and General Staff school. Forty-seven now, in his 26 years of military life he has served in nine states, the Panama Canal Zone and China. Just before the Moscow trip he was secretary of the Combined Chiefs of Staff in Washington. That, too, is a job which goes only to the smart officers.

Another friendly gesture from President Carlos Arroyo del Rio of Ecuador pleases but does not surprise the United States. Now those citizens of his small country who wish to get into the fight may enlist in our armed forces with his approval.

Under Dr. Arroyo's presidency, Ecuador has sold us valuable rubber, has leased us invaluable naval and air bases on the mainland and on the Galapagos islands. Dr. Arroyo has made us a state visit, too. In 1942, a tall, heavy man with a big nose, a receding pompadour, mustache, dignity, he visited Washington, West Point and New York. His only son is being educated here.

The small republic sitting so cockily astride the equator has had 22 presidents since 1897. Dr. Arroyo, elected in 1940, seems destined to fill out his four-year term. Born in 1893 in Guayaquil, educated there, his personality smacks of this progressive seaport, rather than that of ancient, dreamy Quito, high above in the mountains.

He received his law degree at 20, practiced corporation law with solid success, taught in his alma mater, the University of Guayaquil, served many terms as deputy to the national legislature, was elected to the senate and finally presided over the entire congress. He refused to be candidate for president twice but luckily for us was willing in 1940.

SPORTS writers who knew him when he was running the athletic show at West Point said that Maj. Philip Bracken Fleming was a tactful administrator, never at a loss for the word needed to ease a bad situation. Now that he is a major general and Federal Works administrator, he still has the needed word. Three, in fact! They are: "A billion dollars."

That much money, the general reckons, will nicely cushion the impact of postwar unemployment feared by so many. Republican voices offstage seem to groan that so much money ought to cushion anything, but the tactful general pays them no heed.

Fleming finished up with West Point 10 years ago. An army engineer, with a highly regarded knowledge of construction, he was drafted by Roosevelt, a fledgling president then, to head up the Public Works administration.

He has done a passel of jobs since that time and has been called an ace New Deal trouble shooter. He has been FWA administrator for two years and before that wiped up a lot of spilled milk for the Wage-Hour administration.

Major Fleming is just a little short of 60 years old now. His hair is graying, his mustache is gray, but his eyebrows are startlingly black, with a heavy, quiet face and a full mouth.

He was born in the Middle West; Iowa, in fact, and was graduated from West Point in 1911.

GREAT-GRANDMOTHER loved to collect bric-a-brac and so do we. She also liked the graceful green of a trailing vine. Because of this there was a vogue in her day for what-nots and wall brackets. Each sea shell, each figurine, each tiny animal of porcelain or pottery had its bit of sentiment. Woodworkers, both amateur and professional, leaned towards the sentimental, and hearts were a favorite theme for their cut-out designs.

This sketch shows a set of these quaint wall brackets in a living room of today. They will delight the host of modern amateur woodworkers who are rigging up work benches and wondering what they can make. This 14-inch shelf with matching side brackets fills a large wall space in a most attractive way, making a perfect setting for many small treasures.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has prepared a full size pattern for all the pieces of this shelf and the two side brackets with a complete list of materials and directions for making. Patterns are 15 cents. Ask for Pattern No. 263.

Due to an unusually large demand and current war conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers.

The Rubber Shortage is behind us but the Tire Shortage is still here!

Less than two years ago America faced as frightening a situation as any country at war ever faced.

Unless something was done, and done quickly, we would soon be without rubber.

And without rubber, no plane could fly, no tank could move, no ship could sail, no truck could roll, people could not get to work, materials could not move to and from plants.

That was the situation the Government and the rubber companies had to lick inside of two years if America was to stay in the war.

Did the "impossible" really happen?

Let's see what you think. Right now, there is nearly enough rubber to meet our essential needs.

Today, this threat to American victory is merely an unpleasant memory, because Government, the Rubber Director, and a group of industries—rubber, petroleum, chemical, alcohol—working together, compressed into less than two years a job that would normally have taken a dozen years. But . . .

Because the public saw huge synthetic rubber plants shoot up almost over night, and heard that synthetic rubber was in large-scale production, they figured the tire headache was almost over.

Now—a warning!

This is the situation today—the rubber supply crisis is past, but the long predicted and anticipated tire shortage is with us.

Why is this so, when thousands of tons of Government synthetic rubber are now being made?

Why is this so, when the rubber industry is producing a tremendous tonnage of rubber products and more airplane and truck tires than ever before?

Because, as the Baruch Committee foresaw—the fact that few tires could be made until we had our synthetic rubber supply well on the way, resulted in millions of tires going out of service without replacement—and those remaining have less mileage in them. Inventories of prewar tires are gone.

Because our military needs are way beyond anyone's anticipations.

Because the rubber companies must use a lot of their manpower and machines to make bullet-sealing gas tanks and hundreds of other rubber products for war, in addition to tires.

Because half of today's requirements are for heavy-duty, large-size truck, bus, combat, artillery, and airplane tires, requiring many, many times the labor and materials of peacetime needs . . . and finally . . .

Because the manpower shortage hangs over the tire industry as it does over all industry, and there are just too few hands for the job.

Straight from the shoulder

These problems will be licked when our enemies are licked. Meanwhile, we want to tell you frankly that unless you, and all tire-owners continue to make the preservation of tires a vital personal problem . . . our home-front transportation will break down and slow up the war production of America.

The way out is for you to conserve the tires you've got—stretch their life in every way you can.

How to make tires last longer

Do no unnecessary driving. Live up to the government regulation—don't exceed 35 miles an hour.

Keep your tires inflated up to recommended pressure, and check them every week.

Avoid hitting holes in the road, or bruising your tires on curbs or stones. Don't start or stop suddenly. Slow down for sharp corners.

See that your wheels and axles are in line.

Switch your tires from wheel to wheel every five thousand miles, and have them inspected regularly for removal of foreign objects and repair of cuts.

And—most important of all—recap your tires as soon as they become smooth.

Though not all civilians will be able to get synthetic rubber tires in the near future, you may be one of those who will. Therefore, you should know . . . and remember . . . these facts:

FACTS ABOUT PASSENGER CAR TIRES

The synthetic rubber tire is not yet an improvement but it will keep your car rolling through the emergency.

In many respects, the new synthetic rubber tires are an unknown quantity.

How they would behave at the phenomenally high speeds of prewar days is purely academic. The patriotic citizen knows that high speeds wear out his treads far faster than the recommended speed of 35 miles per hour, and drives accordingly.

Under-inflation, driving over rough roads, and other abuses are bad for all tires—but today's evidence is that synthetic tires will stand less of these abuses than the tires you have been used to.

But, since these tires will be rationed to you in trust for the nation, it will be your duty to take every possible care of them, and to prevent misuse and abuse.

As we gain more experience with synthetic rubber tires, more and more things will become known about them, and the public will be kept informed.

If you use synthetic rubber tubes, be sure they are properly installed. They should be put into the tire, then inflated, deflated, and inflated again. And they should never be mounted on rusty rims.

FACTS ABOUT TRUCK AND BUS TIRES

On truck and bus tires, particularly in over-the-road, inter-city service, the situation is less satisfactory.

Truck and bus tires are operated under more severe conditions than passenger car tires. They are heavier, thicker—generate more heat. They are all too frequently overloaded, must travel on any kind of highway their work requires.

Again we'll be perfectly frank about it: synthetic truck and bus tires now built will not stand all the abuse that the prewar tire would take, especially overloading. Progress is being made every day—but overloading which damaged a prewar tire can ruin today's synthetic rubber tire.

The Tire Industry is bending every effort to solve the serious problems of furnishing satisfactory and sufficient tires to the truck and bus field.

But a serious threat still exists to our most vital transportation.

So remember this—while the treads of present truck and bus tires are vitally important, the carcasses of these tires have a value to our truck operators, and to the nation, that is beyond price. Unless these tires are made to last and last, there is almost certain to be a breakdown of truck service.

Every one of these tires must be recapped the very minute it needs it—before any damage is done to the carcass. Speeds must be cut down, especially on hot roads. Overloads must be eliminated. Proper inflation is a necessity.

Operators, garage men, drivers, all have a heavy responsibility that they cannot now avoid. These are straightforward statements. The warning must not go unheeded. A new tire warranty recognizes these conditions, but the real job is conservation!

A new warranty—

With conditions as they are, and synthetic rubber in its present stage of development, a new tire warranty has become necessary and has been adopted. It applies to all tires. Under its terms, injuries such as bruises, body breaks, cuts, snags, and heat failures, as well as tread wear are not subject to adjustment consideration.

Nor are injuries or failures which result from improper tire care or misuse or abuse. This includes failure as a result of overload, excess speed, improper inflation, or other non-defective conditions. Or when tires are used on rims not conforming to Tire and Rim Association Standards.

Remember—the tire industry, the Rubber Director, everyone is working together with all their energy, as they have from the outset, to keep America's wheels turning.

Do your part—take care of the tires you've got now!

THANKSGIVING

The man who lost his eyesight the other day when some fulminate of mercury exploded in a munitions plant will awaken one morning soon, and he will say to himself,

"This is Thanksgiving."

Then after a long while, as he thinks of his life in his new world of total and absolute darkness, he will say:

"Thank God I didn't lose my fingers or my legs or my ears or my mind. I can still do things that are useful. I can still hear beautiful music and inspiring or comforting words. I can still get up from my bed and walk about the earth and be a living part of it."

And a mother whose only son lies somewhere in the blackness of the Solomon seas will look again at his picture on the dresser. And through her tears she will say,

"Thank God I had the joy of you for nineteen years. Thank God I will have the fullness of your memory to enrich all the days of my life."

And a little cripple who is so piteous that people look the other way as he passes by will squirm and twist himself into his best clothes this Thanksgiving morning, and he will say to himself:

"I will go to church, and I will listen to the organ and the choir, and I will get some new thoughts that will help me to forget my pain. And thank God for that!"

But those of us who have lost nothing we cherish may not know exactly how to be thankful this Thanksgiving—unless we look around us. Let's be grateful that God is still in his Heaven; that we can see the stars on a clear night and walk in the sun on a warm day. Let's be grateful our flag still flies over a free land.

NEW TROOP SHIPS

Troop ships in the present World War are far different from those of the first World War. Twenty-six years ago every old tub that could be pressed into service was used to transport troops. Today, ships are specially constructed for the purpose. Many of the old timers were cattle-boats — and smelled so bad that even the U-boats kept their distance. At least, that's the way Veterans of World War I remember them.

The newest troop ships, according to information from the Navy Department, are floating cities — cities without windows. They have no portholes to be blacked out, but are well ventilated by air conditioning. Each hull contains everything an Army needs, from a mechanical cow that turns powdered milk into beverage, to machinery for consuming garbage so that no trail is left for enemy submarines to follow.

Thus science, which has made warfare increasingly terrible, also has made some aspects of it more bearable. We understand, however, that nobody has yet devised a system to supplant the old custom of sleeping the battle-bound soldiers four bunks deep. But soldier boys of today are benefiting by other modern ideas of ship construction. Their strength is reserved for combatting the enemy, not worn down by the rigors of ocean crossings of unnecessary hardship and discomfort.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former newspaper feature editor has been inducted into the army and has spent some time in training at Fort Bragg. In his advice to prospective selectees, Private Hargrove has advocated a pre-induction period of "paining the town red." Once in the army he thinks "an open mind" is the best policy for the "first three weeks are the hardest." Some of the more fundamental phases of army life have gone over Private Hargrove's head and his conduct has landed him often on KP duty. He has been classified as a cook. Between his KP duty and his regular cook assignment he has spent considerable time in the kitchen.

CHAPTER VII

One of the nicest things about working in the kitchen in Battery C of the 13th Battalion has been the knowledge that its number-one chow hound, Buster Charney, would drop around after supper and the conversational fat. It's like a letter from home to listen to Buster's slow and mournful drawl, and his refreshingly dry humor is a pick-me-up at the end of a long, hot afternoon.

Buster came prancing up the chow line, the other evening with a grin that started at the back of his head and enveloped his face from the nose down.

"What's eating you, Walter," I asked him, "besides that egg-sucking grin?"

"Leaving here, boy!" he sang. "You won't see me around for three months. And when you see me, son, you'll see stripes on my sleeves and a look of prosperity on my clean-cut Tarheel face!"

The man behind him wanted to get to the mashed potatoes, so Buster had to move on down the line. I got the whole story from one of the kayspees while I waited for him to make his evening call.

Of the 200-odd men in Battery C, two men had been selected for three months' training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. At the end of their three months, they will come back as gunnery instructors, with a non-commissioned officer's rating and a specialist's extra pay on top of that. Mrs. Walter Charney's little boy Buster was one of the two men selected.

One of the sergeants near here came back from a recent leave with one of the most glorious shiners that ever darkened the human eye.

"Run into a door?" I asked him. "Gave a guy the wrong answer," he replied simply, "or rather, the answer he didn't want."

I looked at his face; his teeth were all there and his jaw was still in one piece. I looked at his hands; the knuckles showed the marks of service.

"I was at a party," he went on, "when this fellow who lives next door to my folks wants to know 'how's the morale in the Army?'"

"Leaving here, boy," he sang; "You won't see me around for three months. Then I'll be wearing stripes on my sleeves."

"Excellent," I tell him; "excellent!" He looks me up and down sort of pitying-like and wants to know don't I read the magazine stories about how poor it is. Well, I tell him, I spend all my time with the boys and I believe what I see more than what I read.

"He goes on from there making cracks at the Army and the country and the suckers we are for giving our time for what's not worth fighting for in the first place. I listen politely for a while, because even though I'm not in uniform I don't want to look rowdy. I stand as much as I can and then I ask him to his feet. It isn't long before his three brothers join the fight. It was one of the brothers put his finger ring in my eye."

"Brother," I told him, "that ain't a black eye. That's a badge." "I lost the fight," he said.

"You won the argument, though," I told him.

"I'd like to use the sergeant's name, but he made me promise not to."

"I told the Old Man," he said, "that I got the shiner playing baseball."

"How can I fit you into a coat," moaned Supply Sergeant Israel, "with you fidgeting around like a race horse at the post? Stand still, darn you, stand still!"

"Heavens to Betsy, Thomas," I complained, "you're getting to be the fussiest old maid in the outfit. I'm not squirming!"

"In the first place, my man," he said, "don't call me Thomas or try to get overly familiar with your elders and betters. In the second place, don't argue with me. In the third place, don't fidget in the first place. And in the fourth place, don't agitate me unnecessarily. I'm at the end of my patience with you and I ain't feeling in no holiday spirit anyway."

I buttoned the handsome winter blouse and he stepped back to inspect it with the eye of an artist. "Every time my wife gets mad at me, she has her picture taken to send to me. The picture I got today showed she's going to eat my heart out unmercifully when I can't put off my furlough any longer and I have to go home. And with domestic difficulties on my hands, I have to fit your winter uniforms."

He yanked at my coattail, straightened the collar and scratched his head. "Hargrove—37 long," he yelled to the boy at the desk.

"Man that is born of woman," I comforted him, "is of many days and full of trouble."

"Get off the platform and into this overcoat," he sighed. He held the coat while I got into it and he slapped my hand for fidgeting again. "Sometimes I wonder why I go to so much trouble keeping you boys dressed right. Here I spend the whole afternoon wiping sweat out of my eyebrows, just to see that your clothes fit you and you won't look like a bunch of bums—which you are."

"Do you know what some ungrateful kitchen termite said the other day?" He started putting it around that the Army could double itself in half an hour by filling up the extra space in its trousers. Do your trousers fit you bum?" He straightened the pleats in the back of the overcoat and gave the tail an unnecessarily vicious yank.

"Did I say they didn't?" I groaned, raising my arms despairingly. "Just because somebody else says you stretch the coat in the back so the man will think it fits right in the front, you have to go picking on me!"

"Me pick on you?" he screamed. "It's a wonder my nerves ain't completely shot! Do I come around and put signs on the door saying, 'Walk Up One Flight and Save Five Dollars?' Do I throw gunny sacks on your bed and ask you to take up the cuffs two inches?"

"With my thankless job, it's a wonder I haven't collapsed before this. I wish I was a permanent kitchen police instead of a supply sergeant. Hargrove—37 long! NEXT!"

"This battery is my baby," Corporal Henry Ussery said, loosening his belt for a real bull session. I've watched it grow from thirty-one men to what it is now. It was hard work building up this battery to what it is now, but it's worth it when you look around and see what you've done."

The assembly sighed en masse and decided to loosen its belts. Ussery was wound up again. "When I got here, there wasn't anybody here but the instructors. We spent four weeks eating dust and running rabbits. There I was—I'd spent thirteen months learning the old drill and tactics to where I reckon I had it down better than any man in the whole Army. Then they started this 'minute Army,' with a bunch of green ignorant Yankees—and I had to teach them what they had to know!"

The bull session nodded wisely and Corporal Ussery went on. "Now, this young Corporal Joe Gant, for instance. Now, this Corporal Gant, when he first came in, was one of the greenest rookies in the bunch. But he snapped out of it and made corporal in four months."

"Was that soldiering," a voice broke in, "or handsaking—as the Latins used to say, mittus fop-pus?"

"Much as I can't stand Gant, I'll have to admit it was soldiering. That's the way it is. You sweat your head off hammering the drills and the calisthenics and the military courtesy and guard duty and the physical hygiene and the manual of arms into them. They're all clumsy and awkward as a bear in an egg crate at first, but then you can see them, after a while, snapping into it and getting better and better. By the time we've had them thirteen weeks, and they're ready to be assigned to their posts, they're as keen and alert as a bunch of West Point cadets. They're extra good cooks and better soldiers."

"Isn't a good soldier a specialist at griping and growling?" somebody asked him.

"Griping is an art, just like gold-bricking is an art. Before you leave here, you learn that you don't enjoy griping a bit when you spread your energy all over everywhere, griping about everything. You learn to choose one thing and specialize in griping about that."

"If you want to be a specialist at griping, you have to get on your toes. You get to where your clothes are comfortable. Where you used to think the food was terrible, now you pretend that you don't get enough of it. You like the beds and by nine o'clock you're sleepy. So you have to find something special to gripe about. If you haven't got any originality at all, pick you out one special noncom and gripe about him."

"Now, you take Private Hargrove, for instance. First came here, he griped about me telling him he was carrying his rifle wrong. Now he gripes when I tell him he's carrying it right. He might have something there. He still carries it like it was a 75-millimeter gun. He's getting so shiftless, even at griping, that he can't find anything to beef about except not getting any mail. I'm going to write all his creditors, so he won't even be able to gripe about the mail."

Somewhere on the wild coast of South Carolina, the battalion in which I cook is being treated to a weekend to combine business with pleasure. We can romp in the Atlantic while we get a "taste of the field." With the wind blowing the sand into kitchens and pup tents alike, it will be nice to get back to

At night we sleep, or simulate sleep, in pup tents made by our own hands with loving care.

Fort Bragg for a taste of the food we eat. A vexed soldier here doesn't grate his teeth. He crunches them.

We made the trip here in lorries, which are the mechanical age's nearest approach in appearance to covered wagons. You've probably seen them rolling noisily but smoothly through town—large canvas-topped trucks with a folding bench down each side inside. You'd expect to be hauled out of one of them, beaten to death, at the end of a 130-mile trip. They give a tolerably bumpy ride, just tolerably.

When we started pitching camp, about a quarter of a mile back from the beach, we found the place already inhabited—by cannibals. These creatures, which masquerade as harmless flies and even camouflaged by the harmless sounding name of sand flies, must have vampire blood back in the line somewhere.

I don't bear any grudge against the easygoing, good-natured house fly—in fact, I feel rather cruel when I squash one for tickling me—but it arouses my pioneer fighting spirit to see a stunted horsefly light on my bare leg, make himself sassily comfortable and start draining off my life's blood. But what can you do? Slapping one only serves to make him mad at you.

At night we sleep, or at least we simulate sleep, in pup tents made by our own hands with loving care, blood, sweat, tears, two pieces of waterproof cloth, two lengths of rope, and a handful of turned lumber.

I share my little duplex with Private Warren, the new student cook who told me the story about the man at the boarding house. When I stumbled home last night, primed to the gills with a blend of sand and salt water, I discovered that we had an overnight guest! The chief cook on our shift, in the task of packing the field kitchen, had neglected to put his own field pack (tent half, blankets, etc.) on the truck, so he decided to drop over and have us put him up for the night.

A pup tent, as you probably don't need to be told, will accommodate two men, provided neither of them walks in his sleep. If three men are to sleep in one tent, at least two of them must be midgets or babes in arms. Cooks should never sleep two to a tent, because of their tendency toward pugnacity.

We arranged ourselves in the tent by wrapping knees around the tent poles, putting all feet outside for the night and raising one side of the tent high enough to make a rustic sleeping porch of the whole affair.

The guest proved to be one of those loathsome creatures who pull all the covers to their side of the bed. We had quite a lot of trouble with him, since he slept in the middle and rolled up in both our blankets. We remedied this by waiting until he started snoring, then recovered our blankets, rolling ourselves in them and throwing a raincoat over him.

The three-man arrangement was very uncomfortable for a while. When I finished opening my eyes by scooping the sand from them, I found that I had rolled through the opened side of the tent and spent the night under a myrtle bush ten yards down the slope.

During my first off hour, I succeeded in getting a tan which must have darkened the very marrow of my bones. My chest, back, and legs looked the color of a faded danger flag and smelled like the roast pork that the cook forgot to watch. After that, the surf and the sun went their ways and I went mine. HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Stuffed Eggs Are Colorful in Spanish Sauce (See Recipes Below)

Point Wisdom

There should be some sort of an "E" award for the housewives who go about their business daily, keeping their homes in order and feeding their families nutritious, well-balanced meals in spite of high prices and hiked-up point values.

And to you ladies who rate or would rate the household "E" aren't you finding new respect for foods low in points or which require no points? I wager there's many an egg with a heart of gold that's come to your rescue and hitherto scorned fish that's made a hearty and delicious meal when points have been all used up.

Both eggs and fish are complete proteins, and they are just as important as meat in building and repairing body tissue which is necessary every day. Both can be combined into just as looked-for dishes as meat and cheese which are rationed.

A word of caution when you cook those precious eggs. Use low temperatures whether you fry, scramble, cook or bake them, otherwise you will have tough, leathery eggs. Cook them carefully, and ah! you will indeed discover how delightful they truly are. Use variety in serving eggs, too, and don't just go through the humdrum monotony of serving them plain boiled.

Spanish Eggs on Toast. (Serves 4)

8 stuffed egg halves
4 slices of toast
Spanish sauce

Lay slices of toast on bottom of baking dishes. Prepare Hot Stuffed Eggs as suggested in following recipe and arrange eggs on top of toast. Pour hot Spanish sauce over and around eggs. Garnish with toast triangles. Serve at once.

Stuffed Eggs.

4 hard-cooked eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper or cayenne
3 tablespoons salad dressing
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Cut eggs in half lengthwise or crosswise. Remove yolks, press through sieve. Add seasonings and dressing. Beat until fluffy and refill egg whites. Top stuffed eggs with buttered crumbs and broil or bake in hot oven about 6 minutes or until crumbs are browned.

Spanish Sauce.

Prepare about 3 cups of your favorite tomato sauce and season rather highly. Add 2 tablespoons chopped onion and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper at the last.

Eggs a la King. (Serves 3 to 4)

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour

Lynn Says:

Meat Stretchers: Store and cook meat properly for greatest economy. Fresh meat is best stored if wiped with a damp cloth, covered loosely with waxed paper and stored in coldest part of refrigerator.

Variety meats, ground meats and fish should be used 24 hours after purchasing. Ground meat darkens if allowed to stand and spoils more quickly than whole cuts.

Frozen meat keeps indefinitely in the freezing unit. However, after thawing, it spoils more quickly than other meat and should be cooked immediately.

Cooked meats should be covered closely to prevent drying and stored in coldest part of refrigerator. Do not cut, grind or slice until ready to use.

Poultry should be cleaned and washed before refrigerating. It keeps better if stored whole rather than in pieces.

Clean fish and prepare for stuffing. Dry carefully inside and sprinkle with salt. Stuff and sew up fish. Rub with melted fat, salt and dredge with flour. Place on a greased fish sheet in dripping pan.

Place over fish small pieces of salt pork or brush with oil. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate (350-degree) oven.

Old Salt Had Turned Tables on the Captain

The old sailor had retired from the sea.

Each morning a youngster living in the village knocked at his door, went in, and soon came out again. After this had gone on for some time the curiosity of the villagers was aroused.

"Tell me," said one of the more inquisitive ones to the youngster, "why do you visit that old sailor every morning?"

"Well, sir, he gives me a dime if I say to him, 'The captain wants to see you immediately on the deck.'"

"And what does he say to that?" "He says, 'Tell the captain to go jump into the briny deep!'"

The gaily enameled unit insignia you see on a soldier's lapels and overseas cap are reproductions of his regimental shield displayed in the center of the eagle on his regimental flag. It's a part of U. S. Army tradition. Traditional, too, is the Army man's preference for Camel cigarettes. (Based on actual sales records from service men's own stores.) It's a gift from the folks back home, that always rates cheers. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work--do not act as Nature intended--fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes--a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Of the 125,000 communities in the United States, 54,000 have no rail connection. They depend on rubber tires for their existence and their contacts with other communities. They rely solely on buses, trucks and passenger cars.
Reduction of the national average mileage of passenger cars to 5,400 miles a year through rationing has proved an important factor in rubber conservation. An idea of how this mileage is regulated will be understood when it is known that 55 per cent of the country's cars are operated on "A" gas ration books alone about 25 per cent have "B," and 20 per cent have "C" books for supplementary supplies.

Ocean Beach U.S.O.

The Ocean Beach U.S.O. is doing a very fine work in our community for the ones who are fighting for us, those who are away from home for the first time and boys back from the battle areas. Many will not be able to go home for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and it is true our boys are well fed in the service, but they also like the home atmosphere. So if you would like to have one or more to a Thanksgiving dinner, call Mrs. Greeson, B-7572 or B-9324 and there will be a boy waiting for you at the U.S.O.

Thanksgiving night we will have a dance and pumpkin pie, nuts and candy will be served. We do need home-made goodies to go with the coffee served. If you can help, do come in. If you are not acquainted with the U.S.O. work come in and let us show you around.

The first award of service pins were presented at our Halloween dance. After 50 volunteer hours a small gold pin is awarded. For 100 hours a small silver pin and after 500 hours a large gold pin.

Those who received awards for 50 hours were, Charity Nickel, Frances Benson, Eileen Eulbeck, Laura King, Katherine Smith, Helen Kiegoski, Marjorie Starke and Mrs. Obersold.

For 100 hours, were Esther Milton, Ruby Omenhendo, Virginia Blankenship, Grace Greeson, Pat Coanley, Dorothy Adams, Katherine Rowland, Fern Heller, May Smithson, and Lloyd Greeson. Mrs. Greeson also received a large U.S.O. gold pin for 500 volunteer hours.

Mrs. Ray Johns, National regional director, visited our Ocean Beach U.S.O., and was very well pleased with the way of operating.
